

RDJ'S NOTES

COURSE 5 | SESSION 1

Start Here

Earl Nightingale

If you were making a sandwich, you would do it in order. First, a slice of bread, then the fillings and seasonings then the other slice. It wouldn't make sense to change the order. Even if you really liked mustard, you wouldn't put it on the plate first.

When we are pursuing our goals, however, we see the steps we want to take and sometimes try to skip the steps that are less exciting. But stepping out of order is ultimately frustrating and futile.

Take your goals one at a time, and appreciate the process as you move forward. Otherwise you won't.

Millionaire in the Making

The great successes of our time are just extraordinary people on whom fate smiled, aren't they?

No, in reality they're not. Successful people get where they are by following a strategic plan. They learn what it takes to get ahead.

We understand that to build a house it takes a plan, a blueprint, but we sometimes forget that to build a successful life, it also takes a blueprint.

Millionaire in the Making

